'Annie' gets extended run

Wonder why local theaters keep reviving Annie? Just ask Desert Stages' Gerry Cully. He's extending his production, featuring the world's most famous singing orphan, with scenes-stealing orphan, with through 22. The musical has been a sellout since its opening Nov. 15.

A pair of 10-year-old dynamos alternate in the title role. Stephanie Samas, a fifth-grader at Scottsdale Christian Academy, made her acting debut at age 3 in Desert Stages' Annie. Her sister, Charlene Frank, a fifth-grader at Scottsdale's Aladdin, Kendall Groveck, a fifth-grader at Scottsdale's Aladdin, also made her debut at age 3 when she soled at a church concert.

Proving he's as comfortable in front of the spotlight as he is behind the scenes, Cully brings to life the orphan's journey in the film Annie in February. He'll co-star with Annie co-star Renee Taylor and Joe Bologna, the married duo.

It's easy to see why Mariah Wilson, 6, was presented with "Best Diva" award at the Desert Stages Production of The Ugly Duckling. The play was performed at the end of a three week workshop in which 20 children learned to sing, dance and help put together sets.
